

U. S. TROOPS WILL REMAIN AT VERA CRUZ

American Government to Wait Until Villa-Carranza Row Is Settled

MEDIATION IS PROPOSED

Customs Receipts to Be Held For Time Being; Little Progress Is Made

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—American forces will remain in Vera Cruz until the question of authority as between Carranza and General Villa is settled. This was the consensus of opinion of administration officials tonight, although no definite announcement of the intentions of the Washington government was made.

Secretary Garrison telegraphed General Funston at Vera Cruz not to load any necessary baggage of supplies aboard the transports informing him at the same time that the Americans would not be withdrawn "for at least 10 days" until certain administrative questions concerning the transfer of funds at the customs house could be adjusted through diplomatic channels.

War Office Statement.

Later the following formal statement was issued by the war department: "Numerous inquiries were made here and of General Funston with respect to the date of the departure of the American troops from Vera Cruz. In view of the matters which must first be settled no date can at present be fixed, but in no event can the departure take place within the next 10 days, and General Funston was so advised. Inasmuch as telegraphic communication with Mexico City is irregular, the department officials did not know when they could reach a satisfactory understanding with the Carranza government. The Carranza government is to the point of requesting Carranza to appoint officials to whom the customs house might be transferred."

U. S. to Hold Funds.

The possibility that General Villa might object to the American government's construction of the Carranza administration as the central government in Mexico City is being considered by officials and indications are that the big sum of money collected for customs by the American officers will not be delivered to any Mexican authority until there is a definitely established government in the southern republic.

Administration officials think an agreement between Villa and Carranza may be effected through the mediation of the Mexican leaders, though they have no reports to this effect and base their belief on what the two men at ready have been of the unfavorable attitude of the United States toward further bloodshed in Mexico.

Mediation Proposed.

The anxiety of prominent constitutionalists in Mexico City to mediate the dispute is regarded as a hopeful sign here, as was General Carranza's declaration that he would not attack Villa but would order his forces merely to defend themselves.

People Fear Revolution.

While consular reports showed the southern republic to be trembling in fear of another revolution, nothing was

HOW LINES OF OPPOSING FORCES ARE DRAWN IN WORLD'S GREATEST BATTLE

ENGLAND CALLS ON IRELAND FOR AID

Premier Asquith at Dublin to Arouse Wave of National Patriotism

DUBLIN (VIA LONDON), Sept. 25.—Premier Asquith appeared at the Mansion house here tonight for the purpose, as he expressed it in the opening of his speech, "to head of the king's government to summon loyal and patriotic Ireland to take her place in the defense of our common cause."

The prime minister received a tremendous ovation when he appeared at the Mansion house with John E. Redmond, the Irish Nationalist leader, and the Earl of Aberdeen, lord lieutenant of Ireland.

Great crowds gathered in the streets of Dublin and cheered the Nationalist volunteers who armed with rifles and bayonets acted as guard of honor.

The union of Belgium and France said the prime minister constituted the darkest pages of the war's somber history. England had worked to the last for peace.

In his appeal to Ireland, he said he was backed by the union of all parts of the empire and the world.

The old animosities are dead, he declared. With great Britain, he said, what she believes Ireland ready to give is a free will offering of a free people.

Mr. Redmond, who followed, said he had promised the Irishmen of the British that Ireland would bring her arms and strength to France.

It is Ireland's duty to fight, declared the Irish Nationalist leader, and Ireland has kept faith with Great Britain.

ALLIES FORCE THE GERMAN RIGHT WING TO FALL BACK

Center Weakened to Reinforce the Western Positions; Battle Line Stretches 120 Miles Across France

AT THE BATTLE FRONT, Sept. 25.—French and British troops, intermingled with Turcos and Moors, not only held their own today, but caused the strongly reinforced German western wing to reel backward near St. Quentin, imperiling the German line of communication toward the frontier of Belgium.

The German center has been weakened by the rush of troops from that position to meet the threatening movement of the allies, and two strong forces were engaged at close quarters today between St. Quentin and Loignier.

The military authorities refuse to permit the disclosure of the exact position of the fighting, but it is generally known that the battle now progressing is of prime importance.

Meanwhile, at other parts of the battle line which is about 120 miles long, fighting continued today in dogged fashion. The allied troops followed the example set by the Germans and dug themselves deeply in.

The artillery of both armies kept up an incessant fire while French and German aviators reconnoitered from above.

The commanders of the allied forces have found the reason for the wonder.

GERMAN CENTER IN DANGER; LINE MAY BE CUT BY ALLIES

Right Wing Liable to Be Surrounded, Says Military Critic in Paris Paper

PARIS, Sept. 25 (Saturday).—Lieutenant Colonel Roussel, writing in the Paris paper, says:

The enemy's position is becoming more and more dangerous. The German center is in danger of being cut by the allies. The right wing is liable to be surrounded, says a military critic in a Paris paper.

The situation of the Germans would be very perilous if the line they hold in the center, as the position of their forces on the right would be endangered. It is because of this dangerous prospect that they are redoubting their efforts against the heights of the Meuse. We learn that they possess the promontory of Hattin (Chateau) not probably without difficulty, and that they are marching on St. Mihiel.

Lieutenant Colonel Roussel refers to the difficulties of the territory confronting the Germans, whose left wing is menaced by the mobile garrison of Toul and declares that even should the Germans succeed in their efforts they would not become masters of the French fortified front. They would have to descend the heights of the Meuse and cross the river under fire and the forts of the center, which are still intact, would constitute a serious barrier to the operations.

I imagine then adds the writer that this new offensive is a simple demonstration to draw our attention from this side and if it assumes serious proportions they will know how to direct their dispositions to check it.

WAR REVENUE BILL PASSED BY HOUSE

Now Goes to Senate, Where Way for Passage Has Been Smoothed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—The administration war revenue bill imposing additional taxes on beer, domestic wines and gasoline, special taxes on theaters and certain dealers and stamp taxes all estimated to produce $105,000,000 within a year, was passed by the house late today. The vote was 234 to 135.

The bill now goes to the senate where the finance committee already has begun paving the way for its prompt passage.

All the Republicans and all the Progressives except Representative Copley of Illinois voted against the bill and they were joined by the following Democrats: Representatives Calkins, Texas; Church, California; Robinson, Alabama; Hall, Illinois; Buckalew, South Carolina; Simpson, Stephens and Waters, Mississippi; Stevens, New Hampshire; Thompson, Oklahoma; and Wingo, Arkansas.

The bill was under discussion in the house two days. Its passage was preceded by the overwhelming vote of defeat of a motion of Representative Payne of New York to recommit the bill to the ways and means committee, the only motion of any kind allowed the opposition under the rule.

During today's debate, Republican Leader Mann assailed the measure as due to the war and as a novel proposition to tax the people's pocketbooks while the government has $75,000,000 on deposit in the national banks.

Representative Hobson of Alabama, Democrat, declared the temperance forces were opposed to any tax on beer on the principle that the government should not be dependent in any way upon alcohol which, he said, had 1,600,000 slaves in this country, and cost more lives than war.

Representative Gallatin of Massachusetts, Democrat, praised the American diplomacy of today, which he said was emerging with honor while the trained diplomacy of Europe had managed a blunder so colossal that no man living can reckon its consequences.

The bill would impose in additional tax of 50 cents a barrel on beer 2 cents a gallon on gasoline, 20 cents a gallon on sweet wines and 12 cents on distilled spirits.

It would also tax 10 cents on stamps, 10 cents on telegrams, 10 cents on telephone calls, 10 cents on theater tickets, 10 cents on lottery tickets and others.

GERMANS OCCUPY CRACOW TO REPEL THE RUSSIAN ATTACK

LONDON, Sept. 26 (Saturday).—That Cracow has been occupied by German troops that the town has been put under a German military commandant and that the Austrian civil administration has been displaced, is the gist of the latest advice received here from the Petrograd correspondent of the Morning Post.

The leaders of the Polish secret committee which has been in charge of all the Polish volunteer detachments fighting on the Austrian side also have left Cracow. The Germans have thrown three army corps into the Cracow district according to this information and are bringing more troops in preparation for the expected Russian attack.

Word has been received here that the Russian army has been driven back from the Polish ports of Danzig, Libing and

KAISER RUSHING MORE TROOPS INTO FRANCE TO CHECK ALLIES' ADVANCE

Germans Gain Ground on Heights of Meuse, While the Allies Hit Enemy's Right

Two Separate Battles Are in Progress. Which May Determine Future of Struggle: Anglo-French Navies Capture Island of Lissa in the Adriatic; Australians Take German Possessions in South Pacific

LONDON, Sept. 25.—Two engagements, which may have decisive results on the great battle now being waged in northern France, are being fought. The allies have struck the German right wing to the northwest of Noyon, and the invading forces, on their part, have hurled themselves against the French line between Verdun and Toul. The beginning of these attacks was announced in the French official statement issued this afternoon, but little was disclosed as to how the fights are progressing.

The advance troops of the French came in contact with superior forces of the enemy on the right wing this morning and were compelled to give a little ground. Being reinforced, however, the French troops vigorously resumed the offensive. This action is described as a very violent and general one.

On the French right wing, the enemy has begun to give way before the attacks of the allies coming from the direction of Nancy and Toul, according to the French official report.

GERMANS GAIN GROUND ON HEIGHTS OF MEUSE

The report admits that the Germans have succeeded in gaining a footing on the Meuse heights and have pushed forward in the direction of St. Mihiel toward the right bank of the river. 20 miles southeast of Verdun, but have not been able to cross the river.

In the southern region of Meuse, the enemy is retreating toward Rupt de Mad in the department of Meurthe-et-Moselle. The action continues in that section.

Some confirmation was given tonight of yesterday's report that the Germans have suffered a reverse on the East Prussian frontier. Several trainloads of wounded have arrived at Pskov, according to a Petrograd dispatch having been engaged in severe fighting on the borders of Suwalki, where they say the Germans sustained heavy losses.

KAISER SENDING MORE TROOPS INTO FRANCE

The Amsterdam correspondent of the Reuters telegraph company has sent a dispatch to London saying that according to a telegram from Mieschke, a German official, troops are being transported into France over the railroad running between Munich, Gladbach and Aix-la-Chapelle.

A dispatch received from a German source says that 40,000 German troops have been encamped in the environs of Waterloo since Saturday. The invading troops have installed heavy siege guns at Grimbergen and Moxe.

It is officially announced in London tonight that nearly 60 officers and 1,400 men were lost in the sinking of the British cruiser Alcock, Hogue and Crossby by German submarines in the North sea. The admiralty tonight published the reports of the senior surviving officers of the ill-fated ships, and laid down the rules that military discipline and interests must take precedence over the saving of life in such cases and that ships must be left to their own resources as they would be in battle.

Premier Asquith appeared at the

GERMANS CAUTION AUSTRIAN POSSESSION IN ADRIATIC

While the Serbians and Montenegrins are closing in on the Bosnian city of Sarajevo, the Austrians have endeavored to resume the abandonment of Belgrade, which in the early weeks of the war was under constant fire from the Austrian guns across the river. They have also attempted to cross the Danube but, according to Serbian reports, have failed.

The French and British navies have annexed the island of Lissa in the Adriatic. The object of this capture, according to Italian reports, was to induce the Austrian fleet to come out and accept battle.

The Australian navy also has sent a busy day, and has added another German possession in the South Pacific to its list of conquests. This time it is Kaiser Wilhelm's Land, the German portion of New Guinea, one of the emperor's most valuable colonies in that part of the world. It is expected that Admiral Denny will take the rest of the

GERMANY FINANCIALLY ABLE TO WAGE WAR TO END, SAY BERLIN REPORTS

LONDON, Sept. 25.—An official statement is received from Berlin by the Marconi Wireless Telegraph company says:

The board of trustees of the Imperial Bank of Germany draw special attention to the fact that the bank proved itself quite equal to the exceptional demands made upon it by the war and that Germany is armed both economically and financially to fight a war on its side until results have been obtained which will secure the political and economic future of Germany.

An inquiry has been held at Colmar, Prussia, into charges of high treason against Otto Wetters, a member of the national bank, from Alsace-Lorraine, who has been condemned to death and whose property has been ordered seized.

German, Austrian and Italian newspapers reflect the remarkable impression which has been created everywhere by the heroic acts of the German submarine U-9, which has since safely returned to the fleet.

I Help the Red Cross Society

Members of the Committee of One Hundred of the Pike's Peak chapter of the American Red Cross society have started their intensive campaign for funds to aid in alleviating suffering on the battlefields of Europe.

To date nearly $2,600 has been raised, and those who are soliciting contributions are meeting with marked success.

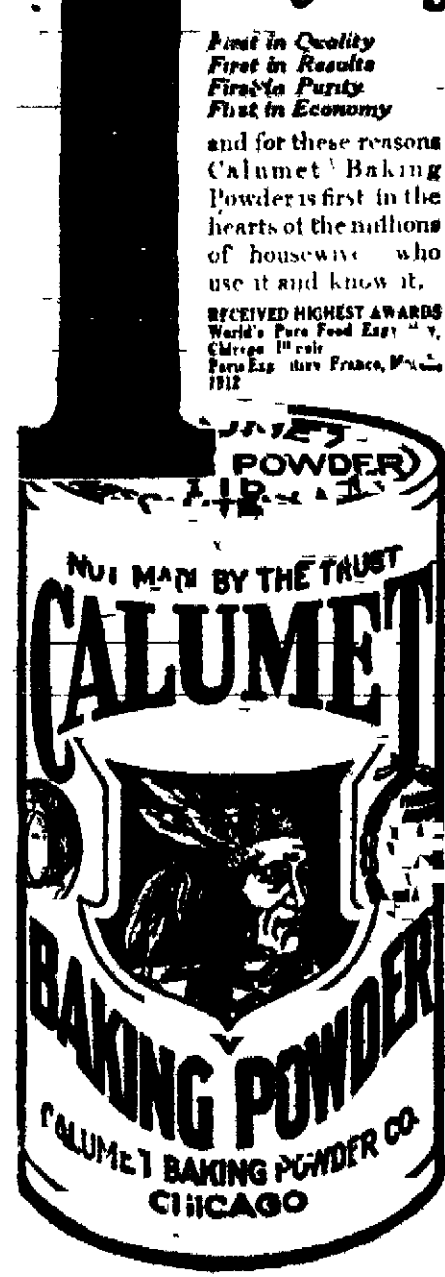

It is likely that someone who is cheerfully devoting his or her time to the work will call on you today. You are under no obligation to contribute a penny—although morally it is your duty to aid the work of the Red Cross society in whatever way you can.

Just a word of precaution. Do not give money to anyone soliciting Red Cross funds unless they carry proper credentials signed by Dr. Mary E. Noble and countersigned by Helen M. Curtis, or unless you personally know the collector.

Contributions may also be left at any of the banks and at the office of The Gazette and Telegraph.

A CHANGE FOR THE BETTER IN THE NEW FALL FASHIONS

In the September Women's Home Companion, which is a fashion forecast number, Grace Marguerite Gould, the well known fashion editor, presents a great array of news and suggestions which she introduces with the following comment on the new fall fashions:

Good friends, a change for the better has taken place in the fashions.

"The American woman this fall will be permitted to wear clothes that fit her figure, and take real steps like a sensible human being, as she has hitherto in her heart longed to do, appearance to the contrary notwithstanding."

"Let me tell you just exactly what I am thinking."

"The spinster woman has become a statistic, and the 'dreaded' figure has been banished. The new fall fashions are made to fit the body."

"The skirt is no longer a straight line, it is a curve, it is a shape, it is a silhouette, it is a masterpiece of art."

"The new fall fashions are made to fit the body, to show the figure, to be a masterpiece of art."

"The new fall fashions are made to fit the body, to show the figure, to be a masterpiece of art."

ITCHED AND BURNED INTENSELY

Breaking Out Covered Whole Body. Came in Pimples. Clothes Irritated. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Now Healed.

2022 Stout St., Denver, Colo.—"The itching started on my mother's back. Later it covered her whole body and caused intense burning and itching. It first came in pimples, and later became rough and thick. The skin then hardened. It was so itchy that she scratched and caused it to spread. Her clothes irritated the breaking out she could wear only silk garments. She got neither soap nor rest. The eruption was also on her face and caused a great deal of suffering."

"She tried everything that was prescribed, but there was no relief. Then she began to use Cuticura Soap and Ointment and they gave her relief at once. It lasted two weeks after she began to use Cuticura Soap and Ointment and then she was healed. Signed Miss Dorothy Cushman, April 21, 1914."

Samples Free by Mail

To prevent dry skin and itching, and to remove chafe and scales, and to promote the healthy condition of the skin, a luxurious growth of hair, frequent use of Cuticura Soap and Ointment is essential. Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere. A liberal sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment is sent free of charge to all who write to the Cuticura Co., 150 N. Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill.

Notes of the Courts

Julius Wright charged with offering railroad tickets for sale, was given a 30-day suspended sentence by Justice J. P. Madden yesterday. The arrest of Wright followed the activities of special agents of the Santa Fe and other railroads. The tickets in question were the return portions of round trips from Kansas City over the Santa Fe.

We intend to prosecute all who attempt to dispose of railroad tickets by such a method, said Special Agent S. R. Bledsoe and the Santa Fe yesterday. The state laws are stringent in such cases, and we intend to enforce them so far as possible.

SCENE IN MILITARY HOSPITAL AT BERLIN AND DUMDUMS GERMANY SAYS ALLIES ARE USING

AEROPLANES AND HEAVY ARTILLERY ENABLED GERMANS TO MAKE SUCH RAPID ADVANCE ON FRENCH CAPITAL

Aviator Tells With What Accuracy Kaiser's
Guns Were Able to Riddle British; Value of Legs and Kitchen Outfits in Field

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

BERLIN, Sept. 25.—Four factors largely responsible for the success of the German arms in the first month's operations against France were the heavy artillery of the field army, the traveling field kitchens accompanying the troops, the sturdy legs of the German soldiers and the service of scouts and information of the German aviation corps.

This verdict, by one of the German military aviators, is a bold though it may seem, in its inclusion of his own legions of the service, is confirmed by the opinion of other officers who have had opportunity of observing operations at the front, and who agree completely with him as to the great service rendered by the aviators in locating the hostile forces, establishing their strength, following every movement of the hostile columns and making down the positions of the enemy's artillery or trenches with such precision that the German fire could be directed upon them without wasting a shot.

Howitzers Main Support

Both German and foreign critics have united in their uttering appreciation of the work of the German heavy artillery—not the mammoth 165-high siege mortars which smashed Liege and Namur, Manoeuvres, Longwy and Maubeuge into submission and surrendered in a few hours or days, but the heavy howitzer batteries, which accompanied the field army and have been used with terrible effect in all the great battles of the war.

In regard to field guns, the French aviator has proved a most worthy opponent—German officers cheerfully admit that the French field gun practice has been remarkable—but thus far they have had nothing to oppose the heavy German artillery, which, by its indirect, plunging fire, has rendered trenches and gun positions untenable and has pounded retreating troops from orderly retreat into full flight.

Sturdy Legs Also Assist

The sturdy legs of the German infantrymen have made possible the great flanking attack which, after state have averaged 25 miles or more a day, and wherever they have halted, whenever a pause in the battle came, the wheeled camp kitchen, drawn by four-horse teams, has been on hand ready to serve out meat stew or hot coffee to the soldiers.

Fritz Werner, the military aviator quoted above, is in civil life a soccer in a crack tennis player in the Bad Homburg tournament. When mobilization was ordered, he disappeared from Bad Homburg, donned a uniform, became Corporal Werner, seventh detachment, aviation corps, and was heard from no more until he appeared in Berlin early in September, to take over a new aeroplane in place of one worn out in a month's short service. He had been attached to one of the squadrons which entered France by the Belgian door, which one it is not permitted to state, and for a month had been scouting and reconnoitering daily above the enemy.

Aviator Can See Whole Field

Complaint is made that the modern soldier and the modern commander no longer see battles, the one having glimpses only of an insignificant portion of the battlefield, while the other reads the telegrams and watches a map 20, 30, 40 miles from the front, but the aviator can view the wide-spread modern battle just as Frederick the Great or Napoleon looked over the opposing armies from some hill of eminence.

Questioned about the series of engagements in which the British army was rolled back before the advancing flood of German troops, Sergeant Werner borrowed pen and paper, sketched out in a few strokes a roughly accurate map of the Franco-Belgian frontier region, inserted Mons, Le Cateau, St. Quentin, Amiens, Leon and Compiègne, and embarked upon an illustrated description of that part of the German campaign. He could tell about the British positions behind the line near Mons because he had assisted in locating them and had seen the German pioneers throwing bridges across under fire, and the German columns crossing to attack the English left flank. He could tell the difficulties of the German artillery in bringing effective support to the advancing infantry because he had peeped over the precipitous ridges of slag and factory refuse behind which the British reserves sheltered themselves until the German lines came within effective range.

Signaled to Batteries

He could mark down the line of the British retreat upon Le Cateau and sketch in the position taken by German and describe the flanking line of attack because he had hovered over the retreating troops, signaled to the German artillery and location of their reinforcements and watched the final retreat under the plunging fire of heavy mortar shells.

He saw the German cavalry swoop upon the line of retreat near St. Quentin and bring Sir John French's forces again to bay, to be again overwhelmed by the German infantry attack, and the destructive effect of shrapnel and high explosive shells from German howitzers and to melt away in the direction of Compiègne.

His estimate of the fighting qualities of the allied forces, taken with that of higher officers of the general staff, who have returned from duty at the front.

British Good Soldiers

"Except at first at Liege," he said, "the Belgians ran away almost without fighting. The practice of the French artillery was excellent. The British were the best soldiers that we met. In the first engagements before their morale was shaken by repeated defeats and heavy losses, they stuck to their trenches doggedly. Officers and men stayed in the trenches keeping up the fire until our men were right upon them. Our heavy artillery and the way in which our men kept coming regardless of losses finally got them and then they ran too."

"I heard at headquarters that the British were excellent at Kleinkrieg (miniature tactics). They were great at preparing a trap for us in a village, would be low in the houses on each side of the main street, get machine guns ready at the windows and when our columns came along would let the advance party get clear into town before opening fire. They usually got most of the advance party, but what difference does the loss of 50 men or so make in settling a big battle? They were great, too, in little night raids, causing our pickets considerable annoyance but without affecting the general result."

"Our men—I saw some of our boys, the first time under the standing up to dig bullets out of walls in which they had struck, or holding up their arms to catch a bullet."

Tells of Flights Over Paris

Werner's flight over Paris and his clipping of bombs and bullets of German victories have already been mentioned in public dispatches. His criticism of German and French fighting machines are interesting from the point of view of an actual expert. He had been using a Taube monoplane, a type of aeroplane which, he complained, was under-armed, ran too slowly and had not sufficient carrying power. These faults, he said, could be easily corrected. A 150-horse engine, could slip up in the air quickly to avoid hostile artillery or rifle fire when scouting or to get above a fighter and faster. French aeroplanes in a contest, in the air, with aviator and observer on board, could carry only two or three of the five-pound bombs with their nitroglycerine contents. Now the was returning to Berlin to take over a biplane, a machine which, as thought, better adapted for war purposes.

Had he ever been attacked by hostile air craft? Yes, on his return from Paris he had been pursued by two aeroplanes, an English biplane and a French biplane. Both were faster and quicker climbers and they soon got about the German aeroplane and flew along one on each side of it, while he and his companion rattled their revolvers, exchanging snorts with the enemy. Had either of the other aviators had a bomb he could easily have gotten above the German and wrecked their machine, but after an anxious 10 minutes they gave up the attack and returned toward Paris. (This incident was mentioned in dispatches from Paris at the time.)

The French machines were too lightly built for war purposes, snatched up too easily and if left out in the rain, lacking a hangar, became useless. This accounted, he thought, for the failure of the French aeroplane corps as a complete whole had been expected of it. Casualties in the aviation corps, he said, had been remarkably light considering the risks. Little danger was experienced from hostile fire. One of his comrades, in the habit of going without an observer in order to carry more bombs, landed in a ditch. It was later learned that he was unhurt, but stopped while he was within the Belgian lines. In attempting to smash his aeroplanes on landing, an instructed regulation, he was thrown out and both thighs broken. He is now recovering in the hospital at Antwerp.

INDORSEMENT NOW MIGHT PROVE EMBARRASSMENT

President Wilson Declines Generosity of New Jersey Democrats Just at This Time

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—At the direction of President Wilson, Secretary Taft today wrote a letter to New Jersey Democrats declining to have them indorse the president for a second term.

Secretary Taft's letter was to Edward E. Gussner, state treasurer of New Jersey. It follows:

"You were generous enough to consult me as to whether the Democrats of New Jersey should at this time indorse the president for a second term. I had a talk with the president about it and he deeply appreciates the generosity of the suggestion, but New Jersey is his home state, the men who would act in this matter are his own personal friends and he feels that it must seem as if he were taking advantage of the extraordinary situation now existing to gain some personal advantage through such an expression of confidence by them."

This would be inconsistent with his logic, thought and spirit and he would not act in this manner. He would not indorse the president for a second term, but he would not accept a renomination if it is offered to him."

Democrats in other states have recently ordered a fight for a second term and no objection was made at the White House.

As outlined by the president's friends, Mr. Wilson's position is that he is not considering the question of a second term at this time and that future events will determine his stand.

SERVIANS HAVE CAPTURED 40,000 GERMAN IN SEVERAL AUSTRIAN CITIES ENVIRONS OF WATERLOO

PARIS, Sept. 25.—A dispatch from Nish, Serbia, to the Havas agency, under date of September 24, says: "The situation with regard to the Serbian troops remains good. Belgrade is in no danger. The Russian outposts occupied by the Serbians and Montenegrins are Plocha, Chantia, Poroz, Vagrad, Rogatica, Vlasovitsa, Srebenitsa and Pristina."

LONDON, Sept. 25.—(Saturday).—An official statement received from Nish by the Reuter Telegram company says: "A severe battle continued September 24 on the front between Serbian and Montenegrin troops and the front from Nish to Sabatz. Elsewhere the situation is unchanged."

A Serbian commander, not authorized to take any action, is demanding the surrender of the Austrians to order the attack.

LONDON, Sept. 25.—The Central News agency says the following dispatch: "Forty thousand Germans have been captured in the environs of Waterloo since Saturday. Headquarters being established at Ruybroeck. All passports to Mons are being refused by the German authorities at Brussels, the object apparently being to prevent travelers seeing the great amount of army transport which has already returned there from France."

"The Germans have installed heavy siege guns at Grimbergen and Meeuwse. To prevent the inhabitants of these places from reporting this fact, the men have all been shut up in a church and the women have been sent to Brussels."

Officers to fire on the Austrian monitors.

German Pacific islands, leaving a small garrison at each.

To fill up the gaps in the ranks of the officers caused by the casualties in France, the war office is promoting a large number of noncommissioned officers to the command of ranks. The first list of these appeared tonight.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT BY FRENCH WAR OFFICE

PARIS, Sept. 25.—The official communication issued at 11 o'clock tonight regarding the progress of the battle in northern France says that this morning French troops in the region of Novion were compelled to give ground before superior forces, but have been reinforced and again assumed the offensive, the engagement being one of particular violence.

The text of the statement follows: "On our left wing in the region to the northwest of Novion, our advanced troops having come in contact with superior forces of the enemy were compelled this morning to give a little ground. Being reinforced, however, by fresh troops these have vigorously resumed the offensive."

"The struggle in this section has taken on a character of extreme violence."

"In the center there is nothing new to report."

WIRELESS PLANT AT SIACONSSET CLOSED

Marconi Company Refused to Comply With Orders of the Navy

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—By order of President Wilson as commander-in-chief of the army and navy, the wireless station of the Marconi company at Siasconset, Mass., was closed today because it declined to recognize the right of the federal government to exercise a censorship over the plant.

The navy department took no cognizance of the fact that the Marconi company had filed in federal court an application for an injunction to restrain the naval officers from closing or censoring the station. The wireless company finally decided to offer no resistance and the station was closed at 1 p. m.

The navy department made public tonight the telegrams that had passed between the department and Ensign E. R. Nixon, U. S. N., censor in charge at the Siasconset station.

At 1:25 p. m. the navy department received the following message from Ensign Nixon, government censor at the Siasconset station:

"The following letter was received when your instructions were delivered to the Marconi man in charge of this station: 'I acknowledge receipt of your letter of instructions relative to the cessation of all radio communications at Siasconset, Mass., and would ask if you are prepared to carry out your orders by force.'

"MARCONI WIRELESS TELEGRAPH COMPANY OF AMERICA."

A request instructions: (Signed) "E. R. NIXON." "At 2:17 the department received the following: 'Siasconset, Mass., Sept. 25, 1914. Secretary of the Navy, Washington, D. C. 'The Marconi company withdraws letter previously sent and the station was closed at 1 p. m. (Signed) "E. R. NIXON."

"No instructions from the department had been sent to Ensign Nixon between the receipt of these two messages."

ARRANGEMENTS MADE FOR STOCK DEALINGS

More Cheerful Tone Shown in Financial District in New York

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—In view of the efforts of bankers of the country to organize a $100,000,000 gold pool, designed primarily to facilitate exchange operations between this country and Europe, today's sharp rise in cables and demand bills on London was regarded as highly significant. Cables rose to 48 1/2 and demand bills up to 49 1/2. The advance was attributed in some quarters to the belief that the modified British moratorium, which becomes effective early in October, might not cover these forms of remittance.

Announcement that arrangements have been perfected, under the auspices of the stock exchange, for the private dealings in concessions in the gold market, which includes the curb, was accompanied by information that this is preliminary to a similar step in regularly listed securities. It is known that many members of the exchange deem such action advisable, but realize that it cannot be taken without the consent of the local banks, which hold large amounts of listed stocks as collateral for outstanding loans.

Effect of Weather on Trade.

Bond dealers reported an increase for the new New York city notes with a further advance in the three-year issues, the offering of these notes was said to have stimulated an inquiry for other municipal notes and bonds. Incidentally, the state of Tennessee secured an extension in this market of some of its maturing obligations.

Recent weather conditions in the middle west contributed to two counter-movements in that section. While farmers are reporting an unusually large winter wheat acreage, merchants complain of the backwardness of trade because of belated decline in temperatures.

Local banks are likely to receive further cash accessions this week, a gain of $3,000,000 to $10,000,000 being forecasted in the surface movement. Reduction of loans is also expected, now that the city loan negotiations have been completed. Bank clearings continue to reflect abnormal conditions, the largest decreases being shown at this center.

The statement of the Atchafalaya road for August is in striking contrast to that of other railroad systems for the same period, showing a substantial gross increase and a net increase of $111,000, aided in large part by reduced operating expenses.

European War Bulletins

LONDON, Sept. 25.—German troops are being transported into France over the railway line between Munich, Gladbach and Aix-la-Chapelle, according to the Amsterdam correspondent of Reuter's Telegram company, who says this fact is stated in a telegram from Maastricht.

LONDON, Sept. 25.—The Central News agency has received the following dispatch from Rome: "A message from Berlin says the general staff, having agreed to the complete official list of prisoners, has found it necessary to admit that the totals already announced were erroneous. The aggregate number of prisoners in German hands is now reduced from 250,000 to 18,000, of which 40,000 are Russians."

PARIS, Sept. 25.—A dispatch to the Italian newspaper Messaggero, forwarded to Paris by the Rome correspondent of the Havas agency, says that the allied forces have landed in Dalmatia after bombarding the fortified harbor of Liess. The British and French flags were then hoisted to provoke the Austrian fleet to come out and engage the allied fleet in battle.

LONDON, Sept. 25.—(Saturday).—Telegraphing from Berlin, the Amsterdam correspondent of the Reuter Telegram company says that a telegram received there denies on competent authority that the Russian cruiser Bayan sank a German cruiser and two torpedo boats in the Baltic.

LONDON, Sept. 25.—(Saturday).—German aviators on Friday dropped bombs on the race course at Amiens, thinking it to be an aviation camp, according to a dispatch from Boulogne to the Daily Express.

LONDON, Sept. 25.—A dispatch to the Reuter Telegram company from Boulogne says: "About midday a German aeroplane flew over Boulogne at a great height and the aviator threw a bomb into a ship building yard. No one was injured and slight damage was done. The aeroplane continued its flight in a southerly direction."

LONDON, Sept. 25.—(Saturday).—A dispatch from Ghent to the Express says that the trouble between the Bavarians and Prussians in Brussels has continued and that all Bavarians in Belgium are being removed. The resentment of the Bavarians, it is said, is due to insults alleged to have been offered by the Prussians to the Belgian queen, who is a Bavarian princess.

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 25.—(Saturday).—A Zeppelin was discovered at 10 o'clock Friday morning at the island of Thimo, off the coast of Jutland, which had arrived from a northeasterly direction from Kattegat, an arm of the North sea, and was going toward the southeast. It disappeared in the direction of the Little Belt, a strait forming the western connection between the Baltic and the Kattegat.

PARIS, Sept. 25.—The French Society for the Assistance of the Wounded announces the killing of five nurses and the wounding of two others while on hospital duty during the shelling of Rheims. The five thus killed were members of a religious order, the others were young graduate nurses.

BART, Italy, Sept. 25.—Dispatches from southern Albania say that the population, harassed and robbed by both insurgents and Greeks, are about to ask the intervention of one of the great powers.

ROME, Sept. 25.—Dispatches from Austria to the Messaggero declare that the Slavs and Bohemians are against separation from Austria, despite the severity of the authorities who have searched and arrested numbers of them and have dissolved associations and clubs everywhere. Bohemian regiments are not being sent to the front, the dispatches say, owing to the fear that they will desert to the Russians.

SENATE MAY START LOBBY PROBE AGAIN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Frequent charges and insinuations that malicious influences have been at work in Washington in connection with antitrust and river and harbor legislation have prompted Senator Overman, chairman of the special lobby investigating committee, to consider calling his committee to complete its inquiry within more than a year ago.

Senator Overman said today that the committee probably would resume its work as soon as its members could find time to devote to the work. It would then consider the advisability of extending its inquiry into the activities of individuals and organizations alleged to have been urging river and harbor appropriations and opposing the federal trade commission and Clayton antitrust bills. It also would complete inquiry begun several months ago into influences alleged to have operated here against repeal of the Panama toll exemption for American ships.

TELEPHONE GIRL AIDS IN CAPTURING YEGG

GREELEY, Sept. 25.—A charge of dynamite exploded by yeggmens early today in an attempt to blow a safe in the store of the Mosher-Curtis Mercantile company, blew the telephone receiver off the hook. The second charge, which failed to open the safe, was heard by Miss Mae March, a telephone operator, who summoned the police.

Officers captured one of the men, who refused to give his name. It is believed that he had several accomplices. The safe, it is said, contained $7,000.

SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 25.—Bishop F. S. Spalding, head of the Episcopal church in Utah, was instantly killed today when his automobile was struck by a car.

The bishop was driving his car alone when it was struck by a car coming from the opposite direction. The impact was so great that the bishop's car was thrown into the air and landed on its side. The bishop was killed instantly.

The car that struck the bishop's car was driven by a man named John J. Hill. Hill was not injured in the accident.

The bishop was on his way to a conference in Salt Lake City. He was 62 years old.

The bishop was a member of the Episcopal diocese of Utah. He was a prominent member of the church and a well-known figure in the community.

The accident occurred on a busy street in Salt Lake City. The bishop's car was traveling south on Main Street when it was struck by Hill's car, which was traveling north.

The bishop's car was a 1914 model. Hill's car was a 1913 model.

The accident was the result of a collision between the two cars. The bishop's car was struck on the side and the impact was fatal.

The bishop was buried in Salt Lake City today. He was laid to rest in the Episcopal cemetery.

The bishop's death was a great loss to the church and the community. He was a man of great faith and a dedicated leader.

The accident has led to a renewed interest in road safety. Many people are now calling for stricter regulations on drivers and better road conditions.

'Cupid in Flowerland' Pleases Big Audience

By O. U. G. D.

"Cupid in Flowerland," a delightful musical extravaganza, was presented at the opera house last night. The production was unusually good, and the well-filled house was more than pleased.

A score of pretty dancing and singing numbers, well-trained children and the way the older ones took their parts made it a decided success. The hit of the show was the story of David, who took the part of Cupid. Time and again he received hearty applause. Master Murray also deserves much credit for his solo, "Consider the Flowers." The little love twins, a year old, were delightful, winning much praise for their work. Fred Kampf and Miss Bertha Arnold sang a pretty duet. Both have musical voices and won much favorable comment. Miss Irene Prior's dancing was one of the features of the evening.

The entertainment was given for the benefit of the church guild. The program follows:

MANY BANKS CARRYING 100 BIG RESERVE FUND, SAYS SECRETARY M'ADOO

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Continuing his campaign against high interest rates and the hoarding of money by banks, Secretary McAdoo tonight made public a list of nearly 20 national banks, of all sections of the country, outside reserve and central reserve funds, which are carrying reserves in excess of legal requirements.

The list is based on reports to the controller of the currency in answer to the call of September 12. It shows that the reserves in these banks run from 25 to 54 per cent, the legal minimum being 10 per cent.

Mr. McAdoo in a statement given out with the list, the large amount of loanable funds that are kept from active employment, as indicated by these figures, was impeded in commercial or agricultural paper, or loaned on proper security, the present situation would be greatly relieved.

The secretary's statement referred to the list an showing "some of the national banks carrying excessive reserves, and it was understood tonight that further lists would follow in accordance with the recent announcement.

NO TIME TO CARE FOR THE WOUNDED

Great Chance for America to Render Important Service to the World

LONDON, Sept. 25.—Inability to take prompt care of the sick and wounded soldiers in the field is manifesting itself to an alarming degree in the rear of the French and English lines.

An American official, who was close behind the allies for several days, within 100 miles of Paris, said he found 200 soldiers in one emergency camp who had been for two days without food and water, and had no surgical attention, although some of them were badly injured and their wounds were foul from neglect. In many other places he found scores of wounded men who had not been picked up by the ambulance corps.

At Paris, hospital facilities are adequate and good care is taken of the injured there, but the first aid to the injured work is not thoroughly organized, and adequate provisions have not been made for picking the injured up promptly and affording them speedy treatment and transportation to a base hospital.

The plan of the present situation is that Germans, French and English alike are so engrossed with the mighty task of making war that they have no time nor strength left to care for the sick and wounded. The American official said: "Here is the opportunity for the United States to play the God Samaritan in a way which will be thoroughly appreciated by the entire world. Instead of sending in foreign surgeons and nurses to each of the belligerent countries, sufficient funds might be subscribed in the United States to enable the American Red Cross to send 20 surgeons and 100 nurses, with complete field hospital equipment, into every one of the countries where fighting is now going on."

"There is imperative need for help from neutrals. The belligerents cannot do justice to their sick and wounded without the assistance of outsiders. Until one gets into the war zone and sees the wounded it is impossible to conceive of the magnitude of this problem."

The Red Cross hospital ship sent by the Americans will be of great use, but trained surgeons and nurses in 100 ships are needed more than ships are now being sent. And the surgeons and nurses are needed throughout the war. Modern science has given us vital the immediate treatment of all wounds. I saw men lying on battlefields in France whose wounds were actually rotting through neglect.

CARNEGIE CHANGES HIS VIEWS ON PEACE

"No Friend of Testing Peace Wants War to Stop Now," He Declares

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Andrew Carnegie, advocate of international peace, reached New York today aboard the steamer Mauretania, with a new version of how the war in Europe was started.

"I'll tell you how the war started," said Mr. Carnegie. "The Kaiser was on a holiday on his yacht in the North sea. While he was away he received a telegram asking him to return to Berlin. When he returned, the mischief had already been done.

"The Kaiser himself is a marvelous man, possessed of wonderful ingenuity. He has done more good for Germany than any other man before him. He has built up a great foreign commerce and a marvelous internal business. The Kaiser himself is a peace-loving man."

"The trouble was started by the German military caste that rules the country. They are responsible for the war. The Kaiser gathered around him a group of men who, unknown to him, acted in concert and in his absence took the action that could not be altered."

"As for my own country, I do not know how to thank God that I live in a brotherhood of 48 nations—48 nations in one union."

America's duty to the world, Mr. Carnegie added, is to point the way to an everlasting peace. "What we want is an international court to stop war. No real friend of lasting peace wants to stop the war now. That would be a short-sighted policy and would be but an armed truce."

SIR LIONEL GARDEN ALLY OF GEN. HUERTA

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 25.—Isidro Pablos, former acting minister of foreign affairs in the Constitutional cabinet, in a statement given to the press tonight, accuses Sir Lionel Garden, until recently, British minister to Mexico, of bias in criticizing the administration.

Mr. Pablos said that the British minister was dismissed from Mexico because evidence had been discovered to show that he had been secretly aiding former President Huerta.

A decree will be issued tomorrow by the authorities forbidding the confiscation of property under the penalty of death.

SMITH WILL CONTEST NOMINATION IN FIRST

DENVER, Sept. 25.—George Allan Smith today announced that he will appeal to the state supreme court in the contest for the Democratic congressional nomination in the first district. Yesterday, District Judge Little awarded the nomination to Benjamin C. Hilliard by one vote.

BRITISH CRUISERS SANK IN HALF HOUR IN NORTH SEA FIGHT WITH A SURMARINE

LONDON, Sept. 25.—The facts concerning the sinking of the British cruisers, Aboukir, Hogue, and Cressy by a German submarine or submarines in the North sea with a loss of nearly 60 officers and 1,400 men, are contained in an admiralty statement issued tonight.

The reports of Commander Nicholson of the Cressy and Norton of the Hogue state that the Aboukir was hit by one torpedo and sunk in 35 minutes. Three torpedoes were fired at the Cressy, one of the explosives narrowly missing. She lasted from 35 to 45 minutes. The Hogue was struck twice, 10 to 20 seconds elapsing between the torpedoes, and went under in five minutes.

The Cressy fired on the submarine, and some of the officers were confident that the shots sank her. Commander Nicholson says that the three torpedoes directed against the ship might have been fired by the same submarine, and that there is no real proof that more than one was engaged.

Strict Discipline Maintained.

The reports show that the strictest discipline was maintained, and that acts of heroism were performed, but the admiralty has established the rule that such affairs must be governed by the same laws as prevail in naval actions, and that disabling ships must be left to their own resources rather than that other ships should be jeopardized by rescue work.

The statement follows:

"The facts of this affair cannot be better conveyed to the public than by the attached reports of the senior officers who have survived and have landed in England."

The sinking of the Aboukir was, of course, an ordinary hazard of patrolling duty. The Hogue, and the Cressy, however, were sunk because they proceeded to the assistance of their consort, and remained with engines stopped, endeavoring to save life, thus presenting an easy and certain target for further submarine attacks.

Report on Disaster.

"The report on the sinking of the Cressy, signed by Bertram W. L. Nicholson, commander of the late H. M. S. Cressy, follows:

"Sir—I have the honor to submit the following report in connection with the sinking of H. M. S. Aboukir and Hogue, on the morning of the 23d of September, while on patrol duty.

"The Aboukir was struck at about 6:25 a. m. on the starboard beam. The Hogue and Cressy closed and took up a position. The Hogue about 400 yards on her port beam. As soon as it was seen that the Aboukir was in danger of sinking, all her boats were sent away from the Cressy and a picket boat was hoisted out without strain up. When cutters full of the Aboukir's men were returning to the Cressy, the Hogue was struck, apparently under the aft 8.2 magazine, as a very heavy explosion took place immediately. Almost directly after the Hogue was hit we observed a periscope on our port bow about 100 yards off.

Says Submarine Sank.

"Fire was immediately opened and the engines were put full speed ahead, with the intention of running her down. Our gunner, Mr. Daugherty, positively asserts that he hit the periscope and that the submarine sank. An officer who was standing alongside the gunner thinks that the shell struck only floating timber, of which there was much about, but it was evidently the impression of the men on deck, who cheered and clapped heartily, that the submarine had been hit. This submarine did not fire a torpedo at the Cressy.

"Captain Johnson then maneuvered the ship to render assistance to the crews of the Hogue and Aboukir. About five minutes later another periscope was seen on our starboard quarter and fire was opened. The track of the torpedo she fired at a range of 500 to 600 yards was plainly visible and it struck us on the starboard side just before the afterbridge.

"The ship listed about 10 degrees to the starboard and remained steady. The time was 7:15 a. m. All the water-tight doors, dead lights and scuttles had been securely closed before the torpedo struck the ship. All the mess stools and table chairs and all available timber below and on deck had been previously got up and thrown over the side for the saving of life.

Second Shot Misses.

"A second torpedo fired by the same submarine missed and passed about 40 feet astern. About a quarter of an hour after the first torpedo had hit, a third torpedo, fired from a submarine just before the starboard beam, hit us under the No. 5 boiler room. This time was 7:30 a. m. The ship then began to heel rapidly and finally turned keel up, remaining so for about 20 minutes before she finally sank at 7:55 a. m.

"A large number of men were saved by casting drift on pattern a target. The steam pinnace floated out of her crutches but filled and sank.

"The second torpedo which struck the Cressy passed over the sinking hull of the Aboukir, narrowly missing it. It is possible that the same submarine fired all three torpedoes at the Cressy.

"The conduct of the crew was excellent throughout. I have already remarked on the bravery displayed by Captain Phillips, master of the trawler, L. T. Coriander and his crew, who picked up 118 officers and men."

Report on Hogue Sinking.

"The report by Commander Reginald A. Norton, late of H. M. S. Hogue, follows:

"I have the honor to report as follows concerning the sinking of the Hogue, Aboukir and Cressy. Between 6:15 and 6:30 a. m. H. M. S. Aboukir was struck by a torpedo. The Hogue closed on the Aboukir and I received orders to hoist out the launch, turn out and prepare all the state and un-lash all timber on the upper deck. Two lifeboats were again to the Aboukir, but before the launch could get away the Hogue was struck on the starboard side amidships by two torpedoes at intervals of 10 to 20 seconds.

"The ship at once began to heel to starboard. After ordering the men to provide themselves with wood or hammocks, etc., and to get into the boats on the beams and take off their clothes, I went by Captain Nicholson's directions, to ascertain the damage to the engine room. The artificial engineer informed me that the water was over the engine room gratings.

"While endeavoring to return to the bridge, the water burst open the starboard entry port doors and the ship heeled rapidly. I told the men in the port battery to jump overboard, as the launch was close alongside, and soon afterward the ship pitched heavily to starboard.

Tells of Own Experience.

"I clung to a ring-bolt for some time, but finally dropped on to the deck and a huge wave washed me away. I clung by the ship's side and was again washed off. Eventually, after swimming about from various hidden pieces of wreckage, I was picked up by a cutter from the Hogue, commanded by Coxswain L. S. Marks, which pulled about for some hours picking up men and discharging them to our picket boat and steam pinnace and to the Dutch steamers Flora and Titan, and rescued in this way Commander Neils of the Aboukir, Engineer Commander Stokes, with legs broken, Fleet Paymaster Bland and about 120 others.

"Finally, about 11 a. m., when we could find no more men in the water, we were picked up by the Luffier, which proceeded to the Titan and took off A. S. A. her all our men except about 20 who were too ill to be moved.

"A Lowestoft trawler and the two Dutch ships Flora and Titan were extraordinarily kind, clothing and feeding our men. My boat crew, consisting mainly of royal naval reserve men, pulled and behaved remarkably well. I particularly wish to mention Petty Officer Halton, who by encouraging the men in the water near me undoubtedly saved many lives.

"Lieutenant Commander Phillips, Woolley, after hoisting out the launch, asked me if we should try to hoist another boat and endeavor to do so. The last I saw of him was on the afterbridge, doing so."

"Lieutenant Commander Tillar was picked up by a launch. He got up a cutter's crew and saved many lives, as did Midshipman Gazelet in the Cressy's gig. Lieutenant Chichester turned out the whaler very quickly.

"A Dutch sailing trawler, sailed close by but went off without rendering any assistance although we signalled to her. On the Hogue to close after we were struck.

"The Aboukir appeared to me to take about 25 minutes to sink, floating bottom up for about five minutes. The Hogue turned turtle very quickly in about five minutes and floated bottom up for several minutes. A dense black smoke was seen in the starboard wake, with a whither from out of the torpedo cord. I could not say. The upper deck was not blown up, and only one small explosion occurred when we heeled over."

All Behave Well.

"The Cressy I watched heel over from the cutter. She heeled over to starboard very slowly, dense black smoke issuing from her when she angled on her side about 30 degrees, and she took a long time from this angle till she floated bottom up with the starboard across slightly out of the water. I consider it was 25 to 45 minutes from the time she was struck till she was bottom up."

"All the men on the Hogue behaved extraordinarily well, obeying orders even when in the water swimming for their lives and I witnessed many cases of great self-sacrifice and gallantry. Farmstone, able seaman of the Hogue, jumped overboard from the launch to make room for others and would not avail himself of assistance until all the men nearby were picked up. He was in the water about half an hour."

"There was no panic of any sort, the men taking off their clothes as ordered and falling in with hammock or wood, as usual, was perfectly cool and rescued large numbers of men. I last saw him alongside the Flora. Engineer Commander Stokes I believe was in the engine room to the last, and Engineer Lieutenant Commander Pendick got steam on the boat hoist and worked it in five minutes."

"I have the honor to submit that I may be appointed to another ship as soon as I can get a kit."

AIR FILLED WITH DEATH, YET THEY CRACK JOKES

American Preacher Tells of Horrors of War, as Seen From Trenches of the Allies

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—A tale of warfare from the British camp in France, vivid with description of the way the English forces face death on the battlefield, of the jokes they cracked and the prayer they said with the bullets whizzing overhead, was brought to New York today by the Rev. James Molloy, a native of Trenton, N. J., who served as chaplain for several weeks with one of the British regiments in France and returned home today on the Mauretania.

"In a modern battle there is an overpowering sense of unreality," he said. "The business of seeing men kill each other seems mechanical because of the preponderance of the machine element in the affair; the human element simply bleeds and dies but the machines continue in their perfection of slaughter."

"The conduct of the English and lish soldiers in the trenches was surprising. There those men stood being shoulder-high mounds of dirt, facing level sprays of death in front, set cracking jokes and singing snatches of music ball ballads between volleys. "Stupidest hobby, I call it, or stupidest absence of nerves."

"I have heard them under the crashing fire of the terrible German guns and with comrades dropping all about them until in roaring it's a long road to Tipperary, as if they were in the barracks. Sometimes I'd hear a big Irishman call out to a neighbor in the trench box. 'Well, I winged that Dutch man, all right.' The business of killing with them seemed personal and to partake somewhat of a sporting event."

COULD NOT STAND ON FEET

Mrs. Baker So Weak—Could Not Do Her Work Found Relief In Novel Way.

Adrian, Mich. "I suffered terribly with female weakness and backache and got so weak that I could hardly do my work. When I washed my dishes I had to sit down and when I would sweep the floor I would get so weak that I would have to get a drink every few minutes, and before I did my dusting I would have to lie down. I got so poorly that my folks thought I was going into consumption. One day I found a piece of paper blowing around the yard and I picked it up and read it. It said 'Saved from the Grave,' and told what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for women. I showed it to my husband and he said, 'Why don't you try it?' So I did, and after I had taken two bottles I felt better and I said to my husband, 'I don't need any more,' and he said 'You had better take it a little longer anyway. So I took it for three months and got well and strong.'—Mrs. ALONZO E. BAKER, 9 Tecumseh St., Adrian, Mich.

London is constantly hearing stories of the terrible engines of war. Germany will send over to the British capital and bomb containing horrible gases are among the weapons it is predicted the Germans may drop upon the darkened London streets. But such stories cause little uneasiness because of the experience of Paris with German bombs.

Military experts are now speculating whether turpentine will lend itself to use in explosives. Turpentine, it is said, can be successfully employed by military aeroplanes and Zeppelins. As Zeppelins are capable of carrying guns of considerable size, it is conceivable they might utilize turpentine. However, in the present war, military experts do not expect to see any of France's enemies discover enough about turpentine to produce its gas or duplicate the Zeppelins.

The French gun for the use of turpentine is shrouded in as great mystery as turpentine itself. Experts are required, it is said, for the use of the new ammunition, and the manipulation of the strange gun so recently introduced to warfare.

MAYTORENA DEFEATS CARRANZA'S TROOPS

First Clash in New Revolt Occurs in Sonora Near American Border

DOUGLAS, Ariz., Sept. 25.—Carranza forces under Gen. Benjamin Hill were routed today by the troops of Governor Maytorena in the first engagement of the new revolution proclaimed by the state of Sonora in connection with General Villa's defiance of Carranza. Hill's loss is indefinite.

Fighting began early today near Santa Barbara and continued throughout the retreat toward Santa Cruz, which Hill ordered when he found his troops outnumbered.

A concentration of the Carranza forces, including 11 garrisons in northern Sonora, which answer Hill's general order for their aid is ordered for Naco, where it is expected the definite test of strength will come. Hill is playing for time until General Turbide arrives with reinforcements from Guadalupe. Hill's wounded were first taken to Cananea, his headquarters, but tonight arrived at Naco along with Cananea refugees. Supplies and munitions are reported on the way and as the troops are withdrawn from the west they are burning the railroad bridges.

Maytorena's forces are said to be following closely.

The first contingent of wounded numbered 29, among whom were Col. Arnulfo Gomez, second in command, and Captain Abad.

Hill has four engines and about 115 cars with which to complete the collection of his straggling army and concentrate supplies and men at Naco.

The garrison at Agua Prieta has lined up for him.

Calling for Volunteers.

EAGLE PASS, Tex., Sept. 25.—Circulars calling for volunteers for the Constitutional army for the states of Nuevo Leon and Coahuila are being distributed in Piedras Negras, opposite here. They are signed by Gov. Antonio Villarreal of Nuevo Leon, who is understood to be loyal to Carranza.

About half of the federal army interned in Yeh United States when it was driven across the border from Ojinaga is en route to Saltillo. It was learned today to be enrolled in the Constitutional army. About 1,000 of the former Huerta soldiers crossed the border here yesterday and today. Those who have not enlisted have been promised employment on ranches.

Fighting at Terreon.

PRESIDIO, Tex., Sept. 25.—Official Constitutional advice received at Ojinaga, Mexico, opposite here, tonight reported a clash between Carranza and Villa forces near Terreon. The dispatch gave no details.

Col. Francisco Olivera, acting jefe politico at Ojinaga, received instructions today from General Villa not to permit a shipment of 2,000 head of cattle and 500 mules, sold by Gen. Rosales to Carranza, to be shipped to Terreon. The shipment reached there today. Villa explains that Carranza has reported the cause of the clash.

Received to Indicate that a physical clash of any importance was imminent.

President Wilson is absolutely neutral as between the two factions and is endeavoring to have consular agents refrain from involving the American government on the side of either Villa or Carranza. Whatever efforts the consular agents may make will be in the direction of aiding the two chiefs or their representative to reach an understanding.

President Wilson, it was understood, was annoyed today by reports that the Washington government leans toward one of the two factions in the controversy.

At the Mexican embassy here the belief was reiterated that bloodshed would be avoided and mediation successful.

Rafael Zubaran (Carmay), head of the constitutionalist agency, gave out the following telegram from Mexican Consul Garcia at Laredo, Tex.: "It is not true that the head of the garrison at Nuevo Laredo, Col. Ramon Garza, has declared his allegiance to General Villa. He remains in his place of honor defending with loyalty and honor the principles of liberty and justice."

Mediators Selected.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Sept. 25.—Samuel Belden, personal representative here of General Carranza, received a dispatch from Mexico City tonight stating that the selection of a committee of Constitutional generals to mediate differences between General Carranza and General Villa had been virtually completed and the personnel of the commission would be announced within 24 hours.

Carranza Reviews Row.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 25.—Gen. Venustiano Carranza tonight gave to the press a 10-page expounded statement reviewing the difficulties between himself and Gen. Francisco Villa. General Carranza declared that General Villa demanded impossible changes in the call issued for a conference of Constitutional chiefs on October 14. Villa also demanded explanations, the statement said, the giving of which would be incompatible with the dignity of the first chief of the revolution. For these reasons, said General Carranza, the situation is grave. The Constitutionalists are ready for any emergency.

ARRESTED FOR TRYING TO ROB DENVER BANK

DENVER, Sept. 25.—William Griffin, an 18-year-old youth, was arrested today on a charge of attempting to seize a bundle of bank notes from a teller's cage in the Denver National Bank. The attempt was made while the bank was filled with customers, about the noon hour. Griffin was chased several blocks by the bank detective before he was captured.

Cardui has done me more good than any medicine I ever took in my life. I can't possibly praise it too highly. You need not be afraid to take Cardui. It is no new experiment. For fifty years it has been found to relieve headache, backache, and similar womanly troubles. I am now feeling better, and my health is improving. Cardui has done up the strength, preventing much unnecessary pain. Try it for your troubles, today. Adv."

Belgian Refugees Being Well Cared for in London Now

LONDON, Sept. 25.—Every day at 5 o'clock a bell rings in the great exhibition hall of Alexander palace, whereupon 1500 women, children and old men, with a scattering of youths set up a clatter of wooden shoes. This amusement park is now the largest camp for Belgian refugees in the London district and makes ideal quarters for the homeless foreigners, who are being cared for there.

Not many weeks ago the same people were struggling away from their burning villages, some for the Dutch frontier to be herded together in Flushing and others for Brussels, where they were sent to Ostend. At any rate ultimately they found themselves in a London railway station bewildered by the noise of traffic and the strange language about them. There they were rounded up by kindly people, speaking their language and put into motor buses for the various camps.

Attendants at Alexander palace say the refugees for the first day or two seemed stupefied. The break in their narrow, peaceful lives by war and travel overwhelmed them. Then they began to fall into the new way of living. For many, no doubt, ease amid plenty was a novel experience after years of frugality and hard labor. Now there is nothing to do but to wander in the great hall, with their starchy, the remains of a Japanese fair and a bird house, in the wooded park outside, the heights of which command an extensive view of London.

The peasants, trained in extreme frugal living, had hitherto managed to do with three meals a day. But in the refugee camps they found a fourth meal at 5 o'clock. At first they took their tea as a duty expected of them. Then they found it helped to break a long interval in a monotonous day. Now they "clamored" for tea. As it is easier to acquire a habit than to break it, they may, on their return, fix the tea habit on rural Belgium.

MEXICANS GOING BACK TO ENTER WAR AGAIN

EL PASO, Tex., Sept. 25.—The movement of Mexican military prisoners, a collection of 5,000 refugees gathered during the past revolutions, has not been affected by the sudden turn of affairs which again has plunged Mexico into civil warfare.

Two trains are going through El Paso daily from Fort Wingate on their way to Eagle Pass, where the men are being crossed to Mexican soil.

The movement will be completed this week. The officers, many of them who have been prominent rebel leaders, will be permitted to cross the line at any point, or to remain for the time being in the state to avoid danger of falling into the hands of political enemies on the other side.

The men are being recruited by Carranza officials as soon as they cross the line it is reported.

and her father are among the most delightful, if not the most delightful, concert singers appearing in Nashville in past seasons. He is the possessor of a baritone voice of wonderful beauty and sweetness, yet with sufficient strength to suggest grand opera voices. He also possesses the dramatic ability and the charm of his selection are heightened by dramatic interpretation. In Mr. Turpin, who is a pianist of exceptional attainments, Mr. Fanning has strong ally. The fine accompaniments being no little factor in the former's singing.

GOVERNOR CAL S. CARRANZA "HIS SUPREME WHISKERS"

NOGALLES, Sonora, Sept. 25.—Jose Maria Maytonaga, governor of the state of Sonora, has proclaimed the allegiance of Sonora to General Villa in his defiance of General Carranza and refused to recognize Carranza as first chief of the constitutional army or in any other capacity.

He says that Carranza has invariably given "vague promises as to his intentions" and that Carranza's conduct since assuming office has consisted in granting favors to "fawning favorites."

In addition to this statement of position from the official head of the state government, Carranza is termed "His Supreme Whiskers" and otherwise derided.

FRENCH ACCUSE THE GERMANS OF CRUELTY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—The French ambassador, Jules J. Jusserand, made public today the summary of 10 documents drawn up by various officials accusing the German soldiers of a systematic campaign of atrocities. The documents, which were placed in the hands of acting Secretary Lansing of the state department by the ambassador, were also delivered to all signatories of The Hague convention.

With the documents a letter was delivered which explained that the French government did not take the step with a view of determining any action on the part of the United States, but merely to report to this country as a signatory of The Hague treaty evidence of how the treaty was being carried out.

Churches to Make Large Gifts for Relief of War Sufferers

Because Trained Givers Christian People Will Respond First to Calls for Aid: Social Service Side of War: Churches Already Giving Nearly a Million Dollars a Day to Altruistic Objects: International Religious Ties

BY THE RELIGIOUS RAMBLER

Retrenchment is the word not only for the general religious organizations of the world in the present chaotic condition of things, but also for the individual church; for the feeling is general among church folk that the needs of Europe are going to make unparalleled demands on American beneficence. This country will doubtless give within the next twelve months an exhibition of international philanthropy that is without a precedent in history, and that would have been impossible a few years ago.

All the intensive cultivation of the spirit and practice of giving which has been going on for many years past in the churches will be turned in the channels of relief for the suffering of the varied victims of war. Only a beginning has thus far been made. More the first faint echoes of the suffering of the war have percolated into the consciousness of the American people.

Conversations with a great many persons in touch with the thought of the day reveals that there is in general contemplation a widespread and generous response to the inevitable call from Europe. War relief will bulk larger and larger in the budgets of systematic Christian givers. In this emergency, as in all the calls from flood and famine in the past, it is the church folk who are the trained givers to altruistic objects, who are to be counted on most.

Aims as an Aid to Neutrality.

One leader of Christian thought has expressed privately a plan which will find an echo in many minds. It is that, as a maker of high principle, and for the sake of promoting American neutrality and the ideals of international brotherhood, each American should make some relief gift to the nations which have not his special sympathy. Thus the logical conception of charity would be carried out. It is easy for the pro-German to give to German sufferers, and the pro-British to give to British sufferers. But this plan the American of German birth and affiliation would, as a matter of principle, make an offering to the relief work in Great Britain; a French born American would send his donation to Austria; a British-American to Germany; and so through all the contending countries. Human need knows no racial, national or political boundaries. This plan would promote the idealism of neutrality and hold givers to the loftiest motives.

War and Humanitarianism

That the peace and brotherhood propaganda of the church has not been in vain, despite the clash of nations, is being shown in many ways at the present time. The dominant thought of America, as of the world, is for the human values concerned. The valor and splendor of war seem to make little appeal; instead of exulting in the brilliance of charges of cavalry and infantry, the readers of the dispatches are thinking first of the waste of lives involved.

No more significant revelation of the new social service passion, which animates our people, has ever been seen than this which has been brought out by the war. Whatever they may think about the inevitableness of the conflict, the American people at least are united in considering the case first of all from the side of its cost to human life, and then as an agency for ultimate peace. The production is general that this will be the last war. The amazing outburst of a spirit of horrid humanitarianism is clear evidence that the Christian spirit of the Twentieth century is against war.

How the Churches Will Give

Appeals for aid have scarcely begun to come to America, although thoughtful persons are making up their little budgets with war relief gifts in view. On many sides it becomes evident that to an astonishing extent people are planning to practice economy this winter in order to indulge in the luxury of charity.

national relationships, relief will go through varied channels, in addition to the Red Cross. Catholic churches in America, for instance, will be called upon to help restore the ruined cathedrals in Belgium and France. American Methodists have already been appealed to in behalf of their fellow Methodists in Europe. The close affiliations of Lutherans and Moravians with Europe will result in special appeals to them. Through such popular religious agencies as the Sunday school, the Young Men's Christian association, the Christian Endeavor societies and other international organizations, similar calls to their members on this side of the water will be made. There will be specific religious needs to be met, as well as those that are more strictly humanitarian. The mission work of the continent must largely be taken over. Every day adds to the magnitude of the blow that has fallen upon worldwide Christian missions. Nevertheless, many leaders are optimistic, pointing out that the figures show that after the Crimean and Boer wars there was an era of unusual religious prosperity in Great Britain.

TIME IS THE TEST

The Testimony of Colorado Springs People Stands the Test

The test of time is what tells the tale. The public soon finds out when misrepresentations are made, and merit alone will stand the test of time. Colorado Springs people appreciate merit, and many months ago local citizens publicly endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills, they do so still. Would a citizen make the statement which follows unless convinced that the article was just as represented? Below is testimony such as the sufferer from kidney ail is looking for.

W. A. Impson, 8, Institute St., Colorado Springs, says: "I am in good health and don't suffer from kidney trouble as I did some years ago before I used Doan's Kidney Pills. Whenever my back gets weak, I can depend on Doan's Kidney Pills to stop the trouble. I gladly confirm the endorsement I gave them about three years ago."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't aimlessly ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Impson had. Foster-McMillan Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

the statement of investigators, that the present contributions of the American churches to religious work reach the staggering total of more than $250,000,000 a year. This means that more than $5,000,000 a week some authorities say more than $10,000,000 a week is given by the churches of the United States for religious purposes, aside from education. The educational work of the church consumes annually another of equal sum.

Unless the present mood of the church people should greatly change, many millions of dollars will this year go to the relief of war sufferers. America will attain a new position as the world's chief almoner. Such revelation of the solidarity of the human race and of the reality of brotherhood will be a fitting contrast to the present war's awful antagonisms.

Not So Strange After All

You may think it strange that so many people are cured of stomach troubles by Chamberlain's Tablets. You would not, however, if you should give them a trial. They strengthen and invigorate the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. Mrs. Elsie Rust, Wabash, Ind., writes: "Nothing did me the least good until I began using Chamberlain's Tablets. It is decidedly the best medicine for stomach trouble I have ever used." ## Every Woman Should Wish to Look Her Best Suffering Spoils Beauty!

Many women look old before their time, simply because worry, sleepless nights, headaches, pains, irregularities and weaknesses to which women are so subject have brought the haggard look, the dull eyes, the "crow's foot" which would mar any woman's charm.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription (In Tablet or Liquid Form)

helps women to retain their youthful looks because it removes the cause of most of the troubles peculiar to women. It is a tonic—invigorating and health-restoring—prepared from native medicinal plants with the direction of a physician especially learned in the ill and needs of women. It will help you to retain the looks of youth and the buoyant step and bright spirits you are so sure to lose unless the feminine organs are helped to reform their functions naturally.

For forty years Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been used with satisfaction and benefit by thousands and thousands of women. It can now be obtained in tablet or liquid form from all druggists in medicines—or send 50 one-cent stamps to Dr. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., for a trial box.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is sold by all druggists. It is the only medicine that cures all urinary troubles. It is the only medicine that cures all urinary troubles. It is the only medicine that cures all urinary troubles.

That is, it is comforting if you are a farmer and have an abundant supply of farm products to sell. If you are one of the more numerous army of ultimate consumers you may feel differently. You may be wondering how you are to get the money to contribute your share toward the farmers' additional prosperity.

There is endless discussion of the opportunities for increased foreign trade, but the actual value of these opportunities is wholly problematical. The war has been in progress nearly two months, and though Congress has enacted two or three laws on the subject, the American flag is not getting back on the seas any faster than it did before. It looks now as if the termination of the war within six months would be followed by the speedy resumption of their old places by the ships of Great Britain, France and Germany.

LOSS OF BRITISH OFFICERS

DURING the Boer war England was appalled by the frightful loss of British officers in battle. In every action the percentage of killed and wounded among officers was several times higher than among the private soldiers. The reason was plain. The British officer considered it his duty to set an example of bravery. He exposed himself unnecessarily, merely to inspire his men with confidence.

The same thing is happening now on the battlefields of France and Belgium. A report published a few days ago shows that up to September 21 a total of 797 British officers were counted among the dead, wounded and missing, a number out of all proportion to the losses in the ranks. British army officers are taken largely from the nobility, and the list includes members of some of the most famous families in England.

There have been similar reports of heavy casualties among the officers of the German and French armies, the reason in each case being the same. The desire to set an example of bravery to the enlisted men. But such action would seem to be not merely needless, but foolish. There has been no lack of personal bravery on the part of the private soldiers of any army engaged in the war; indeed, the press dispatches constantly tell of exploits by Germans, French, Belgians and English which called for the most marked heroism.

The Germans, apparently, are the only troops garbed in uniforms of an inconspicuous color. The French, especially, with their bright red trousers, loom up as easy targets at any distance, and the officers' uniforms are even brighter than those of the privates. The slaughter is certain to be bad enough under any circumstances, and it is worse than folly to increase it by the use of conspicuous uniforms or needless exposure on the part of the officers.

From the Chicago Tribune.

The Hon. William Barnes of New York has laid himself upon the altar, a willing sacrifice to his country's good. He has put on the draperies of an older statesman and with the composed mien of one who has walked serenely to his fate. Let the envied Progressives see how a Bourbon can meet his doom and let the gloomy reactionaries learn a lesson.

Mr. Barnes has withdrawn from active politics, refusing to accept reelection to the position of chief of the New York Republican state committee. "I propose to remove from the campaign the only reason which it (the Progressive party) has for its continued existence," namely: its personal opposition to me."

What an example is here for our Bourbons, notably William McKimley. Inspired by the noble Barnes, they also may attack the Progressive party by removing two reasons for its existence: namely: themselves. They may; but they have not the fortitude of William Barnes of Albany.

TRADE BECKONS US WITH BOTH HANDS

From the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

It is impossible to approach the figures of Latin American trade from an angle without finding a record of ruinous losses for the expansion of our foreign commerce. The latest reports from the American bureau have received by cable show that the exports and imports of the Central and South American states reached the enormous total of $2,500,000,000 last year, and that the exports are a quarter of a billion greater than the imports. This means that the rest of the world is contributing a quarter of a billion dollars a year to the wealth of Latin America. Of the total imports, amounting to $1,300,000,000 the United States supplied only $317,000,000, and Germany $216,000,000. It is now impossible for Germany to export anything and if the war is prolonged for many months it will be necessary for some other country to supply to the Latin Americans what they have been buying from the Germans. The United States manufacturers, therefore, are challenged to go forth and seize the trade that is awaiting the most alert and best-equipped agencies. Their energies are not diverted to war. Their funds are not distracted by dread of what may happen if their country is defeated in a life and death struggle.

PUBLIC SERVICE

From Colliers Weekly.

Two congressmen have made themselves more useful in their first term than James A. Frear of Wisconsin. At the beginning of the present Congress Mr. Frear went to Washington to fight the river and harbor pork barrel, and he has been fighting it ever since. He did all in his power to defeat the 1914 bill in the house, and when it was passed over his protest he followed it to the other end of the Capitol, where he has been furnishing Kenyon, La Follette and other senators with information with which to fight the measure.

Mr. Frear has a resolution before the house which calls for a thorough investigation of many of the items of the measure. He believes a thorough airing of the bill would make its adoption impossible, and lead to the enactment of a law providing for a waterways commission to be appointed by the president, thereby removing the national rivers and harbor problem as far as possible from local influences. Mr. Frear's plucky fight deserves universal commendation, but we think congress ought to abolish the pork-barrel system without a costly investigation.

Another man who is deserving of great credit for his opposition to the pork barrel is Senator Burton of Ohio. Senator Burton is one of the few men in Washington who have fought with sincerity and energy for economy with the public money. He is retiring from the senate voluntarily, there are fully 50 senators who would be missed less.

FROM GREENLAND'S ICY MOUNTAINS TO INDIA'S CORAL STRAND

From the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

The audacity of the big military operations, in which we surpass anything that the genius of the soldier has yet dared. Reinforcements for the British army have landed the world. One body left India and crossed the Pacific to Canada and was transported over the continent to the Atlantic where it was once more embarked for another ocean. Another body of troops left India by way of the Indian ocean and the Red sea to meet the first body when it reached France. But even more impressive than this long march of the British army for help in the transport of Russian troops from the eastern front of the 8th army to the western front by way of the Arctic sea. The arrival of the Russian reinforcements, says the New York Times, has been verified, and the world now knows that the 40 transports which left England for an untried destination early in August were headed for the Russian port of Archangel on the White sea. The army of 150,000 Russians, who dared the polar ice and skirted the North cape that runs its gulf front to challenge the Arctic sea, has been landed in France and Belgium.

The movement of vast bodies of troops over such magnificent distances has never before been attempted in warfare. The transport of British troops to South Africa is the nearest approach to it, but that does not stagger the imagination as does the moving of a mighty army through polar ice, 3,500 miles from one front of the enemy to another, or bringing reinforcements from the Antipodes to Western Europe. Distance seems to be annihilated and there is apparently no problem so stupendous as to overcome modern military genius.

ROUTING THE "POK" HUNTERS

From the Chicago Herald.

The pleasing information comes from Washington that the "pok" hunting senators have been repulsed and that the $93,000,000 river and harbor bill will be reduced, probably as much as one-half, by cutting out of it all "quintessential" items both new and old.

President Wilson has apparently once more proved himself a much acuter politician than he has been commonly credited with being. He does not dwell in that atmosphere of academic aloofness from common things that some have hastily believed him to.

It may be surmised that Mr. Wilson's omission of any mention of reduction of expenditure in his recent message asking for new taxes to meet the decline of customs revenues was intentional—that he foresaw that such omission would stir up the country and strengthen his hands against the "pok" hunters.

It certainly did stir up the country. Thousands of letters and telegrams have poured into Washington demanding that congress practice some of the economy which the European war has enforced upon all sorts and conditions of the American people.

New internal taxes of $95,000,000 shouted for comparison with a $93,000,000 river and harbor bill which everybody believed to be fully one-half "pok." Hence we are not surprised to hear that the president is "taking Senator Simmons that it would be a wise move to cut out the 'pok'."

State and city governments throughout the land may well profit by the example of economy which an aroused public opinion has forced upon Washington. They all have payrolls which could be cut down. They all have a lot of employees who do little but draw their pay and their pay.

It's "good politics" right now to cut the padding out of all public payrolls. The people are aroused as never before to the excessive cost of a lot of what has passed for "government" in this country.

WHAT AN EXAMPLE!

From the Chicago Tribune.

The Hon. William Barnes of New York has laid himself upon the altar, a willing sacrifice to his country's good. He has put on the draperies of an older statesman and with the composed mien of one who has walked serenely to his fate. Let the envied Progressives see how a Bourbon can meet his doom and let the gloomy reactionaries learn a lesson.

Mr. Barnes has withdrawn from active politics, refusing to accept reelection to the position of chief of the New York Republican state committee. "I propose to remove from the campaign the only reason which it (the Progressive party) has for its continued existence," namely: its personal opposition to me."

What an example is here for our Bourbons, notably William McKimley. Inspired by the noble Barnes, they also may attack the Progressive party by removing two reasons for its existence: namely: themselves. They may; but they have not the fortitude of William Barnes of Albany.

Efficient Reading

BY RUTH CAMERON

The other day I heard a mother reasoning with her little son. She wanted him to eat his roast beef and potato. He had eyes for nothing but the cake in the center of the table.

"You must eat your roast beef and potato, darling," said the mother. "You want to grow up and be a strong man like papa, don't you? Now be a good boy and eat your meat and perhaps you can have some cake."

Then, turning to me, she added, "It's positively uncanny how children turn to sweet stuff. It seems as if they didn't care anything for the substantial things. You simply have to fight with them to eat what they should." And she sighed.

I said nothing. But suddenly I thought of a little incident. A mutual friend sent this woman a copy of a certain magazine in which was an article that seemed so vital and so important to her, that she felt as if everybody should read it.

Our mutual friend asked the mother of a little boy who wouldn't eat solid things to read the article in question. It was nothing very heavy, but a graphically written, splendidly illustrated discussion of a subject very much in the public eye.

A few nights after I happened to see her with the magazine in her hand. She was reading the lightest, frothiest love story it contained. I asked her what she thought of the article our friend had spoken of.

"Well," she explained, with some hesitation, "I couldn't make up my mind to read it. I don't care much for that sort of stuff, you know."

Now you may think that this mother was of the class that reads nothing but yellow-backed fiction. But she wasn't. She is a splendid mother and the wife of an unusually well read and informed man who is becoming a power in the civic growth of his city.

The parallel that suggested itself to me as I saw her with her little son, was deadly. The little boy wanted to eat nothing but dessert. His mother sought to teach him that that was not efficient eating. It did not spell physical growth.

Yet when it came to reading, she herself read nothing but dessert. Apparently she never thought that that was not efficient reading, that it did not spell mental growth.

Efficient eating is a subject that is securing merited attention. A few weeks ago I wrote of a chart giving well balanced menus. I only wish I knew of a similar chart for efficiency in reading. But I know of none. We must pick and choose for ourselves.

But if you buy books, don't always buy fiction. If you buy magazines, don't simply read the stories. The editors have prepared for you what they consider a well balanced mental meal. It is quite possible that you will not care for it all, no more than you want roast beef and lamb together in the same meal.

But don't confine yourself to the ice cream and cake pages; turn over to something solid and read it even if you have to force yourself to. Just as the mother forced her son to eat roast beef. Eventually you will not have to force yourself to read solid matter—you will enjoy well balanced reading just as you now enjoy well balanced meals. And your mental growth will be its own reward.

A BATTLE

A battle is a wholesome case of justifiable homicide.

When one man kills another in a private quarrel he is hanged unless the crime occurred in this country, in which case he gets anywhere from a slap on the wrist to several years in prison. But when a man takes a rapid fire gun and shoots the vital spot out of a hundred hundreds and fathers in a battle he is promoted and gets a medal.

At night a bookkeeper checks him off and years ago a warrior fitted a handle around a large stone and bashed in the heads of his enemies. Later on the sword was invented and thousands of men bashed away at each other on the battlefield. Then came the gun, with arms, legs, ears and noses, which remained unscathed for after hostilities had ceased. Those were the days when a broad-shouldered man who could do a half-lawford or backhoe stroke with a 12-pound sword head great holes in the enemies' ranks and became king, because nobody could object. The king business was conducted strictly on its merits in those times, and when a king got out of practice with his cutting tools he went into a sarcophagus in short order.

When gunpowder was invented all this was changed because a tiny little man, with no ancestors, could shoot a hole in a perfectly good king with no effort at all. After this kings stayed in the background and made suggestions, while the common soldier shot each other into bits, making with rifles, machine guns, cannons, bombs, torpedoes, revolvers and Gatling guns.

Fifty years ago a battle was a gaudy and loud, but these have changed. A rifle now shoots two miles and a soldier lies all day in a ditch shooting into the invisible beyond, over a hill. At night a bookkeeper checks him off and if there are enough soldiers alive to keep on firing a great victory has been won.

Battles are now fought over mines and under airships with machine guns which can mow down a forest, and after a couple of good, hard scraps a nation has to suspend hostilities until it can grow a new crop of soldiers.

This is a good thing, because battles will soon become so fatal that brains will have to be used in their place in settling international disputes.

THE BRITISH FIGHTING MEN

Kitchener sat in his London den, making his plans with an iron pen. Just in Kitchener's way. And he saw where the clouds rose dark and dun.

"We shall want every man who can shoulder a gun. To carry this thing right through!"

Bravo, Kitchener! say what you want. No one shall say you nay! And the world shall know, where our bugles blow.

We've a man at the head—today!

Jelliffe rides on the gray North seas. Watching the enemy's lining. When their lord high admirals skulk in case.

Inside of their hellish mines They have drunk too deep to the boasted fight.

What have you two mad a vow? What have you think-on the watch-to-night? What toast are they drinking now?

Bravo, Jelliffe! call them again! And whenever they take the call, Show them the way give them their "Day!"

And settle it once for all!

And French is facing the enemy's front. Stubbornly day by day. Taking the odds and bearing the brunt. Just in the Britisher's way.

And he hears the message that makes him glad. Ring through the smoke and flame "Fight on, Tommy! stick to them, lad! Jack's at the same old game!"

Bravo, Tommy, stand as you've stood. And, whether you win or fall, Show them you fight as gentlemen should. And die like gentlemen all!

So Kitchener plans in London town. French is standing at bay. Jelliffe's ships ride up and down. Holding the seas' highway.

And you that loaf where the skies are blue. And play by a petticoat hem, These are the men who are fighting for you!

What are you doing for them? Bravo, then, for the men who fight! To hold with the men who play! It's a fight to the end for honor and friend.

It's a fight for our lives today!—Fred E. Weatherly in the London Daily Mail

IN THE EARLY DAYS

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY
SEPTEMBER 26, 1884.
George H. Russell and C. R. Russell went to Denver.

A certificate of location of the Morning Star lode on Cheyenne mountain was filed in the office of the county clerk. There was considerable work being done in the endeavor to find a mine on Cheyenne mountain in those days.

President E. P. Tenny of Colorado college and family left for Boston, where Mrs. Tenny and the children intended to spend the winter.

J. F. Seidomridge, Matt France and R. W. Edwards left for Silver City, N. M., where they intended to complete the negotiations for the purchase of a very valuable mining property in Arizona.

The registration board announced that there were 4,653 names on the books in this city.

How to Keep Well
By Dr. W. A. Evans

Dr. Evans writes: "It is not possible to keep well without a good diet. The diet should be such as to give the system a good tonic. It should be such as to give the system a good tonic. It should be such as to give the system a good tonic."

GOITER
From no other group of people do we get so many letters as from those with goiter. This means two things: Goiter is widely spread; those with goiter know of their trouble and want to do something about it.

The fact is that the doctors themselves have not explored the field thoroughly, and just what is the best thing to do in several groups of goiter cases has not been decided.

This much is certain. It is not enough to know that one has a goiter. Before anything should be done it is advisable to still further analyze the diagnosis should include the kind of goiter. Mayo, Plummer, and Wilson have shown plainly that there are different kinds of goiters, and what is required for one kind is quite different from the requirements for another kind.

Some goiters start out in poison thins and protrude the eyes. For this operation is inevitable, and delay may result in the case becoming inoperable.

In another group of cases the thyroid enlarges because it is necessary that it should do so in order that it may do the work thrown on it. A certain physician with this type of goiter has found out that with him his poor digestion causes the thyroid enlargement. By great care of his digestive organs he has held his goiter down to comfortable limits for many years.

Many goiters in women result from disease in the pelvic organs. Attention to the underlying condition brings about improvement in the goiter.

The evidence is good that chronic infections of the nose and throat at times result in enlargement of the thyroid and increase in the amount of thyroid secretion in the blood. Dr. Beebe tells us that in goiter patients between 16 and 24 from 35 to 40 percent will give a history of repeated attacks of tonsillitis.

Then, if a person has goiter he should find out whether his goiter belongs to the group which results from some disease elsewhere in the body.

If it does the search must be to find where the trouble is. In this search the condition of the nose and throat must be investigated.

If the tonsils are found diseased, it was the opinion of the gentlemen discussing Dr. Beebe's paper, as well as of Dr. Beebe, they should be removed.

ONLY MINOR DISORDER.
J. M. L. writes: "I am troubled with a peculiar affliction. If I may use the expression, when reading a pathetic or pitiful story I cannot hold back tears, and I cannot proceed. My wife and all my friends laugh at me, and I start again, but all in vain. I try to concentrate my mind on the words, but I still imagine I am seeing all that I read. It is disagreeable to say the least. Is there a cure or preventive? It is not youth, as I am 35."

CONGRESS WILL BE IN SESSION MONTH YET

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—The legislative program before the house will keep congress in session at least a month longer, according to Chairman Henry of the rules committee. He said at the White house today that as soon as the war revenue bill was disposed of a special rule for 12 hours' debate on the Philippine bill and another for eight hours' debate on the ship purchase bill will be brought in. The right to offer amendments will be contained in the rule.

Chairman Sparkman, of the rivers and harbors committee, said at the White house today that he expected the house to accept the main provisions of the new rivers and harbors bill as passed by the senate.

ANTIQUOR CAMPAIGN HITS SNAG IN NAVY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—It became known here today that an issue involving enforcement of Secretary Daniels' antiquor regulation had been raised and settled to the entire satisfaction of all concerned. A big barge was driven up to the entrance of the Boston navy yard with many kegs consigned to the Argentine battleship Rivadavia. The officer in command refused to admit the cargo and reported the incident to Secretary Daniels, who approved his action. Later, however, according to unofficial advice, a bum boat carried the beer out to the Rivadavia.
